To avoid potential damage to the device, always disconnect all cables before transporting it.</li><li>2. Permanent hearing damage can occur if a headset is used at high volumes for extended periods of time. It is important to keep the volume at a safe level. Your ears adapt to loud volume levels over times, so a level that may not cause initial discomfort can still damage your hearing.</li><li>3. If you experience ringing in your ears after listening with the headset, it means the volume is set too loud. The louder the volume, the less time it takes to affect your hearing.</li></ol><ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Before placing a headset on your ears, turn the volume down completely, then slowly increase it to a comfortable level.</li><li>• Turn down the volume if you can't hear people speaking near you.</li><li>• Avoid turning up the volume to block out noisy surroundings.</li></ul>FCC Caution: Any changes or modifications not expressly approved by the party responsible for compliance could void the user's authority to operate the equipment.
